

CAPT Patrick Cook, SC, USN
Executive Officer
Navy Expeditionary Medical Support Command

CAPT Cook earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Finance from the Northern Illinois University and was commissioned through the Officer Candidate Program in 1988.

Upon completing the Basic Qualification Course at the Navy Supply Corps School, he was assigned as Disbursing Officer and Food Service Officer, USS CROMMELIN (FFG-37) stationed in Long Beach California.

Follow-on tours included serving as the Aviation Supply Officer at Naval Air Station Glenview Illinois, and Contracting, HHG, CIVPAY, and Asst. Supply Officer, Commander Naval Activities United Kingdom (COMNAVACTUK).

CAPT Cook earned his Masters of Arts degree in International Finance in 1996 from London Business School while serving at COMNAVACTUK. He graduated with second honors.

Upon leaving active duty in 1997, CAPT Cook immediately joined the Navy Reserve Program. His reserve assignments include: Administrative Officer, NAS Key West 0170 and Planner, Commander Carrier Group 570.

CAPT Cook returned to active duty as a Full Time Support (FTS) Officer in 1999. His FTS tours include: Supply Officer at Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 4, Supply Officer and Operational Support Officer at Navy Reserve Readiness Command Mid-Atlantic, Logistics Planner and N4 Operational Support Officer at Commander Pacific Fleet, and Director of Operations, Plans, and Policy at Navy Expeditionary Logistics Support Group.

CAPT Cook earned his Masters of Arts degree and JPME Phase 1 certification from the Naval War College through the non-resident program in 2004. He graduated with distinction.

CAPT Cook served as Executive Assistant and Chief Staff Officer at the U.S. Central Command Deployment and Distribution Operations Center in Kuwait in 2007.

His personal awards include the Legion of Merit, Defense Meritorious Service Medal, the Navy Meritorious Service Medal (three awards), the Navy Commendation Medal (three awards) and the Navy Achievement Medal.

CAPT Cook is married to the former Suzanne Rutter and they have five children; Micalah (age 18), Jacob (age 16), Micah (age 14), Josiah (age 12), and Mary-Catherine (4 weeks). Patrick and Suzanne grew up in the Chicago area.