

NMCP Pediatric Services

Tidewater Military Health System - Fiscal Year 2016

Dedication, Training, Commitment

- * Naval Medical Center Portsmouth's (NMCP) Pediatric Department is committed to the care of children, adolescents and young adults. Our pediatricians and pediatric specialists are trained at some of the best medical schools in the country, including the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences, Walter Reed, Stanford, Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Baylor and the University of Virginia, to name a few.
- * Our entire faculty is board-certified, active in research, and passionate about training the next generation of military pediatricians. Our training program is among the best in the country, with board certification rates well above the national average.*

In 2008 to 2010, NMCP was one of only four pediatric programs nationwide with a 100% pass rate. Visit www.abp.org for the latest information.*

Your expectations of us...

- * To listen and communicate clearly.
- * To offer treatment recommendations based on the latest medical evidence.
- * To coordinate with other health care professionals and refer to specialty care when needed.
- * To provide exemplary care for you and your child.
- * To work with you to develop a tailored plan that addresses the needs of you, your child and your family.

Our expectations of you...

- * To advocate for yourself and your child.
- * To partner with us to develop the best health care plan for your child.
- * To keep us informed of any changes in your child's health.
- * To think of NMCP first when your child is ill - call the Pediatric Clinic to speak with a member of your child's health care team.
