

Palliative Care Symposium

Naval Medical Center, San Diego

CDR G. Lanneau, MC

LCDR C. Callaway, NC

carlin.callaway@med.navy.mil

619-379-9938

Save the Date:

12 October 2012

NAVAL MEDICAL CENTER
SAN DIEGO
THE PRIDE OF NAVY MEDICINE

Palliative Care Symposium

Friday
October 14, 2011
0700-1500
~~~
Auditorium
Bldg. 5

Welcome from the Directors

On behalf of the Palliative Care Working Group, we welcome you to the First Annual Palliative Care Symposium at Naval Medical Center San Diego. We are grateful to San Diego Hospice and the Institute for Palliative Medicine. We are also grateful to the artists and vendors for their support. We hope that your patients will benefit from your participation.

We appreciate your honest feedback, and we look forward to seeing you again next year.

CDR G. Lanneau, MC, USN
LCDR C. Callaway, NC, USN

Program Learning Objectives

Provide current evidence based review of fundamental palliative care topics to assist with providing outstanding care to our fleet and families.

Schedule of Events

|           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 0700-0730 | REGISTRATION                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 0730-0735 | WELCOMERDML C. Forrest Faison III, MC, USNCommander, Navy Medicine WestCommander, Naval Medical Center San Diego                                                                                       | DATE               | Friday, October 14, 20110700-1500                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 0735-0820 | ETHICAL OVERVIEW IN PALLIATIVE CAREGary Buckholz, MD, FAAHPMDirector, San Diego Hospice and PalliativeMedicine Fellowship Program                                                                      | LOCATION           | Naval Medical Center San DiegoAuditoriumBuilding 5, First Deck                                                                                                                                                         |
| 0820-0910 | OPIOID PAIN MANAGEMENTDr. Natalie Keil, PharmDNMCS D Pharmacy Resident                                                                                                                                     | TARGETAUDIENCE | Physicians, nurses, nurse practitioners,physician assistants, pharmacists,social workers, chaplains, corpsmen                                                                                                          |
| 0910-0930 | BREAK                                                                                                                                                                                                              | PROGRAMSPONSOR | NMCS D Palliative Care Working Group                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 0930-1015 | HEART FAILURECDR Daniel Seidensticker, MC, USNDirector, NMCS D Heart Failure ClinicNMCS D Cardiology Fellowship Director                                                                               | FEES               | Free                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 1015-1100 | COMMUNICATING WITH PATIENTS AND FAMILIESIN CRISISNoreen Carrington, LMFT, FTExecutive Director, The Center for Grief Careand Education, Institute for Palliative Medicine atSan Diego Hospice | ATTIRE             | Military—Uniform of the DayCivilians—Business Attire                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 1100-1200 | LUNCH (Provided)                                                                                                                                                                                                   | PARKING            | Participants are encouraged to arriveearly for parking.                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 1200-1300 | GRIEF AND LOSS FOR HEALTH CAREPROFESSIONALSLiane Fry, LMFTProgram Manager, The Center for Grief Careand Education, Institute for Palliative Medicine atSan Diego Hospice                      | SUPPORT            | Exhibits through theHenry Jackson Foundation                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1300-1345 | NON-OPIOID PAIN MANAGEMENTCAPT Ivan Lesnik, MC, USNNMCS D Department of Anesthesia                                                                                                                         | CME                | This is a CME design activity.Naval Medical Center San Diego isaccredited by the Accreditation Councilfor Continuing Medical Education(ACCME) to provide continuing medicaleducation for physicians. |
| 1345-1400 | BREAK                                                                                                                                                                                                              | REGISTRATION       | Limited.Registration closes on 10/07/2011                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 1400-1445 | CLOSING SESSIONCDR Chris Stafford, MC, USNMedical Director, NMCS D ICUCDR Grainger Lanneau, MC, USNDepartment Head, NMCS D Gynecology—Oncology                                                 |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 1445-1500 | QUESTION AND ANSWER SESSION                                                                                                                                                                                        |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

<http://www.med.navy.mil/sites/nmcsd/Staff/Pages/default.aspx>