

NAVY AND MARINE CORPS PUBLIC HEALTH CENTER

Our Mission

Maximize readiness through force health protection strategies and solutions for current and potential public health threats.

Our Vision

A healthy, resilient and informed Navy and Marine Corps community living and operating in the safest possible environment to maximize readiness.

(U.S. Marine Corps photo by Lance Cpl. Samuel J. Lyden)

Our Strategy in Action

We deliver measurable value through public health action. The culmination of our work ultimately ensures people and their living and working conditions are safe, healthy and mission ready.

Our expertise in addressing and anticipating public health threats influences decisions and provides operational-level solutions to protect the health of service members and safety of environmental conditions. In this time of change, it's essential we advocate the impact of our mission as well as help leadership understand and act on public health trends and challenges.

NAVY AND MARINE CORPS PUBLIC HEALTH CENTER
IMPROVING READINESS THROUGH PUBLIC HEALTH ACTION

FY19-FY24
NMCPHC Goals