

Bring with you to Diego Garcia:

- Complete Sea Bag

Suggested items to bring with you to Diego Garcia:

- An inexpensive bicycle - make sure it has working lights on the front/back and helmet (you can also purchase these items at the Ship's Store)
- A black umbrella - (a MUST during the rainy season)
- Snorkel gear - mask, fins, gloves, booties
- Booties or water shoes (need for kayak, windsurfing and boat rentals, no sandals)
- Plenty of your favorite sunscreen lotion (Can also purchase in the Ship's Store)
- At least one formal dress suit or gown
- NO TV/VCR/DVD, as these items are provided in your room
- Kitchen items - a few coffee cups, glasses, dishes, and pots and pans
- Bread maker - if you like that
- Coffee maker/cappuccino maker (if you like that)
- Coffee beans (and grinder)
- Professional books/papers and fun reading stuff
- Spices for cooking your favorite food dishes
- Personal computer/laptop
- Swimwear
- Military sweater/jacket for work
- Decorations for your room/office; perhaps a small radio
- Small stereo system/DVD player/answering machine/phone
- Walkman or I-POD to listen to while exercising.
- Bathing suits (if you are an athlete, bring a few of them at least – you will probably get into the traditions here or other events)
- Any sporting gear (golf, soccer, tennis, softball, racquetball, etc)
- Camera (under water capabilities is recommended)
- Stationary or cards (the selection at the ship's store is quite dismal)
- Cloths – just count on that you can't buy it here. Bring smart casual for the hail/farewells. Wear casual includes: beach attire such as shorts, t-shirt and sandals
- At least one pair of decent sunglasses (recommend polarized)
- A blanket or two for your room (the air-conditioning gets cold)
- Small vacuum cleaner (like a dirt devil or something)
- Any workout supplements or even vitamins/minerals
